Leo Ascendant

People with Leo rising tend to be generous, proud, emotional, romantic, extroverted, vain, egotistical, courageous, sentimental, self-confident, showy, and want to shine and be successful in wherever they go and whatever they do.

They like to 'rule' and have homage paid to them for their 'royal' nature. You like to take risks and can sometimes be foolhardy, but you definitely have a zest for living.

“ The worst thing someone can do to you is to hurt your pride or be unappreciative of you. You wear your heart on your sleeve in matters of love and you need a partner you can be proud of and you want them to be proud of you.

You are faithful to and protective of those you love. You can be quick-tempered, but you tend to not stay angry for long. You like to play the kingly role and have a sense of drama surrounding you.

You are a ham. You like being the center of attention and will do things just to get that attention. You can be stubborn in a sunny sort of way.

Your roar is worse than your bite. If your pride is hurt or your dignity is trampled on, then watch out, because you can forgive, but you don't forget.

“ You enjoy sports and out-of-doors activity. Your vitality and spirit are strong except if your heart is broken in love. Your need for love and affection is very great and you need to feel appreciated.

If frustrated, you lose your desire for living. The Sun rules Leo so the Sun will be important in your chart.

Sun in Gemini

Geminians are friendly, clever, talkative, versatile, curious, perceptive, intuitive, and logical. At times they can also be quite contradictory, restless, two-faced, critical, and impatient. Gemini people enjoy and need work that includes a great deal of variety. They love to do several things all at the same time, sometimes making them late for appointments. They abhor boredom. Geminians tend to flit from one experience to another, gathering in all types of information along the way, but seldom getting to the depth of any subject. They go broad and not deep. Persistence is not their strong suit. Gaining knowledge and disseminating it is their real talent. Hence, they make wonderful salespeople or teachers if they stick around long enough to get all the facts instead of only half the story. Even if they do not possess all the facts, since they are never at a loss for words, they will continue with their story as if they did have all the facts. It is important for a Geminian to seek intellectual satisfaction. Mental stagnation turns them off, so they read extensively and communicate widely in order to satisfy this longing for mental stimulation. This discontent can make them either very ambitious, or it can incline them to jump from one thing to another, searching for the greener grass which never appears. Geminians usually think quickly on their feet and have the ability to use the right words in any situation. They possess tremendous wit and a good sense of humor. Other people may have difficulty in keeping up with their rapid change of subjects.

There may be more concern to demonstrate to the world that the marriage has been successful rather than happy. Much expense may be incurred through partnership, perhaps on account of the marriage partner's extravagant tastes.

In order to attain your goals and objectives, you have to be patient and willing to work hard. If your lessons are learned, the later part of life will offer greater rewards. depression is something you need to conquer. Your unconscious fear of being hurt by others can cause you to withdraw from too close an emotional involvement with others. You are kind, but may lack empathy. You can be so busy protecting yourself from hurts that you are unable to see the hurts of others. There is a tendency for improper digestion due to the lack of certain digestive juices in the stomach. It would be best if you did not drink liquids with your meals (except milk, which is a food). Chiron Profile

Chiron in Second house

This placement usually shows disappointment in one's self when having financial difficulties. When you are well equipped materially, you will likely still not be happy until you find worth in your spirit and own being rather than what you own. If you believe you can't take care of yourself, know that it's an inner infant you're carrying who doesn't know that you can love yourself. The self-sufficiency natural to the 2nd house can be hindered in you if you let your fear of rejection or abandonment lead in how you shape your life. You may have unusual sexual interests as a result of deprivation of appropriate physical affection or sexual abuse in early childhood. You can see the worth in others who aren't well off and can be very helpful in helping others to see the positive sides of themselves that exclude the material, but when it comes to yourself, you are not as kind. When you truly find your personal worth you will be able to transcend your deepest wound. You can be powerful teachers of the lesson of "self-worth" if you can overcome your own self-esteem issues and dealt with your own issues. When you accept your uniqueness when it comes to how you choose to use your time, energy, and money, you can free yourself to embrace Chiron's resourcefulness in figuring out new solutions to old problems, valuing your unique approach to life.

SECOND HOUSE

The Second House is commonly referred to as the House of Possessions. While this speaks to that which we own, it's not limited simply to tangible things. We own our feelings and emotions, as well as our inner selves, abilities, needs and wants.

Chiron in Libra

Libra is an air sign, ruling the mental plane. Relationships prove karmic with this placement. Your relationship needs to be healed, or maybe you have got hurt or rejected in a relationship. You are hypersensitive to what others are feeling and need, as well as how they do and don't give you what you perceive you want and need. You might feel you have less of a right to need love and support from others, which would be why you've attracted needy others to you in the first place! Building and forming lasting relationships can heal. Awareness of the need for another half is indicated. The identity might somehow be tied to another person. You may attract others to you with a noticeable amount of unhealed issues, or pervasive wounding. How you respond to them will tell a lot about where you are in stages of becoming the source of love yourself. Your job is to take cues from others and how they do and don't deal with their emotional issues and improve how you deal with yours, always evolving how much credence you give to your own emotions, needs, and suffering. You can only seem to know the self through mental interaction with others. A mirroring takes place that makes you eventually aware of yourself. This placement signifies that you need much to learn from the chosen mate, and all lessons will not be pleasant. Reaching a perfected highly evolved union and ultimate healing comes through gifting another with unconditional love without the fear or worry of whether that love is reciprocated. It's up to you to become the source of love for yourself, and these others are with you so you can learn about healthy and empowered ways of doing so for yourself. One of the lessons that may be learned with this combination is that conflict may lead to a greater sense of intimacy.

LIBRA

The planets represent energies and cosmic forces that can be utilized in various ways. They are like the actors in a play. Houses represent the different spheres of life where these energies can be and are brought to bear, for better or for worse. If the planets are the actors in a play, then the houses represent the various settings in which the actors play out their roles (signs).

The 12 Houses of astrology are symbolic of all the departments that make up human life. The planets and zodiac signs will manifest themselves most strongly in the sphere of life represented by the House in which they fall on your chart. Remember, the houses are not "energies" like the elements or planets, nor do they color the expression of energies like the zodiac signs do. The houses are WHERE these energies are most likely to manifest. The houses are the fields of experience, not the experience themselves.

Your inclination to be successful, and attain to positions of influence tend to create a positive outlook as seen by the outer world, and in turn casts a good light on you and your ambitions. You enjoy being highly qualified at what you do, and will work long and hard to achieve that feeling. Your natural pride and loyalty will lend dignity to your causes and projects that will incline others to join with you in your endeavors. Your management and organizational skills should bring some level of respect that insures a modicum of success, although hasty decisions not thought out, or tempestuous impulses could land you with more setbacks than you might think. With you, life is not all work, but play as well; this brings interests in recreation, social situations, and educational opportunities.

Second House Cusp

House of Possessions

The Second House is commonly referred to as the House of Possessions. While this speaks to that which we own, it's not limited simply to tangible things. We own our feelings and emotions, as well as our inner selves, abilities, needs and wants.

You tend to handle your monetary concerns with great care and prudence, and there is little likelihood of not being fully aware of your financial status at any given time. Your inclination to be thrifty in financial dealings indicates that it is easy to keep a budget, and thus less chance of indiscriminate buying that might result in lost savings or inability to pay the bills. Attention to details will keep investments in line, although the tendency to overlap other various interests could result in less important affairs to 'slip through the cracks'. Along with your sense of discrimination is a tendency to be critical, and care should be taken to avoid disputes with family, friends, co-workers, and others sharing in financial relationships.

Third House Cusp

There is an inclination to take up artistic pursuits as a way of self-expression, or to make social statements. You would prefer to travel for pleasure rather than business, although trips in association with business partners could be beneficial. Your transportation preference usually tends toward air travel, although the comfort of rail might have a strong appeal. Companionship will determine in many cases whether you travel or not, as you prefer not to be alone. Relationships with family, relatives, and neighbors are expected to be friendly and helpful, although correspondence may fall behind at times.

There will likely be a great deal of emotional attachment to the home, and although love and caring abound for the most part, there is apt to be changing conditions within the family. Someone you care a great deal about could relocate, or leave under some form of confusion. The home may come through an inheritance, or the result of a legacy. If you grew up in an old, creaky, weathered house, it could have seemed just a little haunted. Or if you live in a modern airy apartment or home, it might seem rather austere at times, or remind you of a place from the dim past. After marriage the home could become highly charged with emotion. Jealousy and possessiveness could mar domestic harmony, and strain the relationship. Death of loved ones will be especially hard as you are usually very close to them. You may view your own death as an enigmatic mystery.

Fifth House Cusp

House of Pleasure

The Fifth House is commonly referred to as the House of Pleasure. Oftentimes, pleasure is the result of a creative act. The simple act of creating is, essentially, giving of oneself and making something -- making another? Yes, the Fifth House does speak to procreation and children, but it also addresses the creation of art and culture.

The indication is for a moderate size family with healthy children of a robust nature, and you would be a good companion for them. You have a tendency to speculate, and may be drawn to buy lottery tickets or invest in a good race horse. Your natural inclination to be lucky often pays off, and you could become quite successful if you don't splurge or take too many risks.

Nerves are often affected by worry, which can then bring stomach problems; stay calm and cool in unexpected situations. It is best to work in an area that is of high interest, or where personal achievement is a dominant factor. You are not likely to stay in any job that becomes routine or dull; a congenial atmosphere is important to you. This is one area of life that you have little interest in conformity, or following the path that society expects you to take. You may prefer to live-in with someone prior to marriage, and there is an attraction to someone slightly eccentric or unusual. By the same token, divorce is always within the realm of possibility if things don't work out. You tend to prize your freedom and individuality, and this could interfere with a happy union if your spouse is very possessive. Other kinds of partnerships can be constructive and beneficial in most cases.

In the event there should be reasons for resentments to arise in the life, it is likely to focus in the public, social, or political arenas. If you decide to challenge an opponent, say for political office, the outcome could lead to bitterness, such as with the result of "mud throwing" etc. In the social context, someone spreading false rumors behind your back would have the affect of creating enmity or bad feelings. Your public image should be guarded from any hint of scandal, or questionable ethics. In regards to affairs of the heart, love affairs might have a hidden factor that puts you in a false light, and compromises your otherwise honorable intentions. Since you possess a certain natural talent in the artistic field, you may find others that resent your abilities, therefore strive to do your best, but let others do the crowing.
